The Vehicle Defense Pistol Course will be covered in two parts, live fire and Force on Force (SIM). Part one is designed to educate the participant on how to defend themselves, family or friend, from in and around a vehicle. The average commuter spends an estimated 1 to 3 hours each day in traffic. As such, learning to defend yourself in this type of environment is essential to your safety. The core topics covered in this course will be the principals of how to effectively and safely shoot your handgun and defened yourself and family while and around the vehicle. We will demonstrate how ballistic behave when impacting a vehicle, windshield and pillars, showing the truths and misconception of how effective a vehicle is as cover. Additionally students will be taught how to communicate with each other as they attempt to move from cover to cover. Part 2 of the course will cover Force on Force (SIM). Students will now have the opportunity to apply the concepts and techniques learned during first portion of the course against another live opponent.
